

An architectural rendering of a modern, two-story house. The house features a mix of light-colored stucco walls and vertical wooden slat accents. A large, covered driveway on the left is supported by black columns and has a silver SUV parked under it. The main entrance is centered with a large wooden door and a glass side panel. To the right, there's a two-car garage with a white car parked inside. The driveway is paved with grey interlocking bricks. The property is landscaped with several tall palm trees, smaller shrubs, and flowering plants. The sky is blue with light clouds.
